Sculpture site rethink amid safety concerns

AN INNOVATIVE sculpture made by secondary school students will not go on display in Haverhill town centre after all.

The 'Haverhill Head' created by Neil Williams, head of art and design at Samuel Ward Academy, together with his students, was destined to be mounted in the town's market square.

But due to "health and safety concerns", the sculpture will instead be erected in the grounds of the school, in Chalkstone Way.

The project was a collaboration between the school and PATCH (Public Art in the Town Centre of Haverhill), a group of the Haverhill Area Working Party (HAWP).

PATCH commissioned Samuel Ward to build the sculpture, with the intention of providing a feature in the town centre.

The High Street was originally suggested as a location, but this was later changed to the market square.

Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor and member of HAWP said she was "speechless" at the news.

She said: "At the meeting we were told that a structural engineer had not been involved in the making of the sculpture and there were serious health and safety concerns which meant it could not be erected in the town centre.

"I was speechless for the first time in a long time – I am concerned that the project was allowed to continue, knowing it was likely that a structural engineer's recommendation would be necessary."

The sculpture also incorporates screens in the "eyes" of the head, which will be used to advertise forthcoming events in Haverhill and provide other information about the town.

But in order for the sculpture to be sited outside on public land, it must meet certain "technical requirements".

A spokeswoman for the borough council confirmed that the design of the head had developed over time, and PATCH did not want to "constrain" the artistic process.

The result of this is that it will be sited at the school within "supervised grounds".

Mr Williams said because the school's facilities are used by the entire community, there is more opportunity for the sculpture to be seen than if it were on the market square.

"It is very exciting and positive for the school," he said.

"I think more people will benefit from where it's being placed – it's not just school students and staff who will walk past it on a daily basis."

Most of the content displayed on the monitors will appeal to young people, Mr Williams added, and there will also be an opportunity to incorporate sound into the sculpture.

Howard Lay, executive principal of Samuel Ward, praised his students for their hard work in developing the piece of art.

Samuel Ward students previously took part in a project to design metal gates. These were put up on Queen Street to restrict vehicular access.

Mr Lay said: "While it would have been gratifying to have two ambitious school projects on display in the town centre, I am pleased that this artwork will remain on site.

"It is hard evidence that our students have vision and are willing to put in the hard work necessary to realise their ideas."

Cllr Byrne added: "The students and Mr Williams have done a fantastic job and I am of the view that there may be future projects in the town where the head can be incorporated safely."

Young people back youth hub project

DEBRA FOX

MORE than 150 young people have fully supported a project to bring an all-purpose youth centre to Haverhill.

Training for new skills, advice and guidance and art projects were just some of the facilities that the town's younger residents hope to see when the centre opens.

The youth centre plan was put in progress after ONE Haverhill's community budget consultation in 2013, which revealed that a service supporting Haverhill's youth was what most people in the town wanted to see.

Further consultation revealed that a "one stop shop" encompassing all youth services in one building would be the best way to deliver what the town wanted.

Karen Chapple, youth skills manager, recently carried out a survey of 170 people aged 10 and over and received 100 per cent positive feedback.

She said: "From my conversations with young people, they are very keen to improve their employment and training prospects and excited to welcome a youth service to Haverhill."

"In my opinion it will ensure their varied needs are met and with support from different agencies the young people of our community will engage and flourish."

Haverhill Town Council agreed to find a place to operate the service, and is currently in ongoing negotiations with Suffolk County Council over a lease on the town's former police station and magistrates' court, in Camps Road.

A refurbishment plan for the site is also currently under way.

Cllr Roger André, town mayor, said the town council earmarked a sum of £200,000 for refurbishment costs from existing reserves, which combined the unspent youth provision budget from previous years.

Once up and running, it is estimated that the project will save the town at least £125,000 per annum, Cllr André added, in policing, environment and local employment costs, according to ONE Haverhill's consultation.

"Personally I am delighted that we are approaching completion of lease negotiations and anticipating a full discussion of the survey," Cllr André said.

"The intention of the town council was always to provide a sustainable resource to serve young people better as our community grows - there was never any wish to secure yet another 'quick-fix' project."

Sarah Howard, chairman of ONE Haverhill, has said that "great strides" had already been taken towards completing the project, but that time needs to be taken to get it right.

She said: "We are not talking about a

YOUTH PROJECT: Sarah Howard, chairman of ONE Haverhill, and Cllr Roger André, below. Above: Negotiations are ongoing over the lease for the town's former police station and magistrates' court youth club here, we are talking about a service which we have already made great strides towards creating that will support young people into work, create apprenticeships for the town, offer personal support and advice on a variety of issues and provide our young people with a meeting place and activities which build their confidence and social skills.

"It is a service that all organisations represented on the ONE Haverhill partnership agree has been needed for a very long time now and has been made possible by the collaboration between local authorities, businesses, education, and other partners."

Mrs Howard has also criticised a "small vocal minority" of residents who are looking "backwards rather than forwards" before the centre has even opened.

"I find it quite frustrating that a small vocal minority of people continue to look backwards rather than forwards in this town," she said.

"Every town has its issues but we have a cutting edge science park being built which is causing huge interest in the science community and will bring many jobs to Haverhill, two outstanding academies, and lots of active people who care about their community and are trying to achieve progress for Haverhill."

"Haverhill is a great place to live and work and it's time we realised that and that there are lots of great things coming if only we give them a chance to succeed."

Mrs Howard added that ONE Haverhill is "committed" to providing a one-stop shop service for young people in Haverhill, and it is what residents said the town wanted and needed.

From the 22nd of April there will be some changes to family law as a result of the Children and Families Act 2014.

The Children Act of 1989 introduced Residence and Contact orders in respect of children, as well as the concept of Parental Responsibility. The Act made it clear that the Court's paramount consideration should be the welfare of the child and upon the separation of parents, the Court should not intervene in arrangements for children unless there was a dispute and it was necessary for them to do so.

The Children and Families Act 2014 will see an end to Residence and Contact Orders. These will be replaced with the introduction of 'Child Arrangement Orders'. There will be a presumption that the, "involvement of that parent in the life of the child concerned will further the child's welfare."

The law does not go as far as introducing a presumption of shared parenting, but it is anticipated that the changes will promote more equality between separated parents and remove the view that one parent has the upper hand. The Orders will set out, "with whom a child is to live, spend time or otherwise have contact."

If the arrangements for your child are problematic, we can assist you further. Telephone us for an appointment with one of our family law solicitors at any of our three offices.

Driver to appear in court

A MAN in his 50s has been charged with failing to provide a specimen after his vehicle allegedly clipped two cars before hitting a tree and a lamppost.

Police were called to Chestnut Close, Haverhill, at 6.35pm on Saturday after reports that a vehicle mounted a path and verge and clipped two cars. It then continued and hit the lamppost and tree.

Gordon Andrews, 59, of Chestnut Close was reportedly held in his car by two members of the public until police arrived at the scene.

Andrews will appear at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court on May 2.

Four homes targeted

FOUR homes were broken into over the Easter weekend.

A handbag and two mobile phones were stolen from a home in Tern Close, Haverhill, between 10.15pm and 11.50pm on Sunday. Thieves gained entry to the property through an insecure back door.

On Monday, the occupants of a house in Jay Close were woken by a loud bang at around 11pm.

The glass in the rear patio door was smashed and the occupants saw a man trying to force the door handles. He fled over the rear fence with a second man.

On Tuesday, the rear window of a property in Burton End was forced open - but offenders did not gain entry to the house.

Eagle owlets hatch just in time for Easter

VISITORS to Linton Zoo were treated to a different kind of Easter chick over the weekend.

A fluffy trio of Turkmenian eagle owlets, born last month, took their first steps into the great outdoors under the watchful eye of mum Rohan at the weekend.

The little ones, which weigh around a kilo each at only three weeks old, left their nesting cave for the first time.

There are only 26 known pure-bred Turkmenian eagle owls in zoos across Europe. Since 2011, 10 of them have hatched at Linton Zoo.

The owlets' parents, Rohan and Pip were also hatched at the zoo, and are the only known breeding pair.

Rohan is 7, and dad Pip is 25. For more information about Linton Zoo visit lintonzoo.com

Rail link: we would all benefit, meeting is told

DEBRA FOX

PASSENGERS would be able to travel to Cambridge in 20 minutes if a rail link from Haverhill was re-opened.

Reviving the route would improve the town's connectivity on a national level, and also take pressure off the A1307 road.

These were just two of the messages delivered to around 50 members of the public who attended a meeting on Haverhill's "missing" rail link last week.

Run by the Cambridge to Colchester Rail Project, the meeting heard from Rev Malcolm Hill, chairman, David Edwards, secretary and treasurer, and Peter Wakefield, chair of the East Anglian branch of Railfuture.

Following a meeting with local councils, businesses and other stakeholders in February, Mr Hill told the meeting that the next step is for officers from Cambridgeshire and Suffolk County Councils to work together on a business case.

A feasibility study may also be necessary.

It is thought that the line between Haverhill and Cambridge will cost around £150 million to build.

Mr Hill said: "The line would serve everybody from Cambridge to Colchester, via Haverhill and Sudbury."

"We are looking at a total of £100,000 to find out whether a railway can be constructed."

Mr Edwards told that opening just 15 miles of track would enable those living in the town to travel to Cambridge in around 20 minutes.

PROJECT: Rev Malcolm Hill

He said: "There is a lot of scope if we could only get connected into the national network."

Mr Wakefield said that the A1307 is "over capacity" and described it as a "high casualty" route.

"An alternative route to the road is also required," he said.

"That can only be provided by a high quality railway reinstatement. Remember, the population of Haverhill is set to rise to around 40,000 in 15 years time."

"There will be new settlements as well as extensions to those existing en route to Cambridge, which will continue its journey to becoming a major core city."

Those in attendance were also invited to ask questions and share their views on the possibility of a railway.

Antony Carpen, a political activist who operates through 'Puffles The Dragon Fairy' on social media, suggested that local schools be involved in the project as it is "long-term".

Information should be extended on social media too, he added, in order to get the word out.

Mr Carpen also encouraged the public to find out where their local politicians stand on reviving the railway as it "could cost them at the ballot box".

Cllr Graham Newman, Suffolk County Council cabinet member for transport, offered his support to the project at the meeting and said: "I will commit what I can from Suffolk County Council, not so much in terms of cash, but trying to facilitate things."

"I think this is imminently doable."

Other questions included where the station would be and whether there was a possibility to extend to Audley End.

One member of the public suggested that consulting with land owners should be the next step as not getting them onside could cost the project later.

A straw poll carried out in the room revealed that everyone present was in favour of the rail link being re-opened. Haverhill's railway station closed in 1967.

The next meeting is taking place on June 5 at the Arts Centre, from 7pm.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Celebration for students

CHILDREN learning an instrument at St Felix Primary School are celebrating success.

Pupils who took part in grade exams before the Easter holidays returned to school to find there was a good number of passes, including some merits.

Amongst the passes were some Year 5 and 6 pupils who had not had any private lessons, but had only attended free recorder club, run by the school.

A celebration assembly is taking place next week.

More support for rail link

HAVERHILL Rovers FC have expressed their support for a rail link between Haverhill and Cambridge.

The club has said it is hard to attract players from the Cambridge direction due to a "poor road network" and that transporting players can be a challenge.

In a supporting statement, Alastair Shulver, chairman, said: "Overall as a football club we are doing well but we do feel restricted by the battle of getting players here and a rail link would be a very good solution in dealing with the issue of transporting players in a more safe efficient manner."

The revival of the rail link is also supported by Haverhill Chamber of Commerce.

A taste of all things Easter

THOSE preparing for a feast over the bank holiday were able to get a taste of something different.

A local produce market was held in Linton on Saturday, and the variety of treats on offer made for a fantastic family day out.

The event was organised by The Linton Kitchen, and stall holders included local brewery Black Bar, butchers Ashcroft and Sons, and the Jigsaw Bakery.

Gemma Whiting, of The Linton Kitchen, said: "It's fantastic to see the ancient market square being utilised and The Linton Kitchen hopes to continue the markets in the future as a regular event for the community."

"I would like to thank the local residents for coming to the event, the parish council for granting us permission and the neighbours for allowing us to use the space adjacent to their houses."

Remembrance at town's park

A SECTION of East Town Park is to be transformed in honour of the First World War centenary.

The initiative, put forward by Cllr Gordon Cox, will see the park's "butterfly garden" revamped to commemorate the anniversary of the start of the war.

This will involve planting a range of flowering plants across the area, as well as a ribbon of red ornamental poppies.

Within the poppies, a sundial will be installed.

Cllr Cox said: "We owe a lot to those people who lost their lives in the First and Second World Wars."

"Without them we might not be here today. There's not enough money to thank them for what they did."

The sundial will be mounted on a column of stone, and the dial top will be inscribed. It will also include the CB9 logo.

Two stone tablets will also flank the sundial on either side and display words from the Ode of Remembrance and In Flanders Field.

Cllr Cox's suggestion was fully supported at a recent Haverhill Area Working Party meeting, and associated community groups will be made aware of the project.

Cllr Tony Brown, who represents Haverhill East on both St Edmundsbury Borough and Suffolk County councils, has pledged £1,500 from his locality budget to the plan.

He said: "I think East Town Park is a nice area for people who may have lost relatives in the war to contemplate."

"East Town Park is one of my favourite places in Haverhill - I couldn't think of a better place for it."

Haverhill in Bloom has also agreed to come up with a scheme to sow poppy seeds on the embankments between the Spirit of Enterprise roundabout and the Burton End roundabout.

The group is also investigating the possibility of mounting a large poppy cut out in the Spirit of Enterprise sculpture, facing the direction of Cambridge.

Other initiatives taking place across St Edmundsbury to honour the 100th anniversary of the declaration of war include poppies being sown in the Abbey Gardens, Bury St Edmunds, and a range of exhibitions and events at Moyses's Hall, also in Bury St Edmunds.

Events will also take place across the country to mark the centenary of the start of the battle of the Somme in 2016 and the centenary of the Armistice in 2018.

They still refuse to repair our road

I CONSTANTLY read in your publication about Haverhill residents bemoaning the lack of shopping facilities in the town. I thought therefore they might like to hear of my personal experiences.

I am the secretary for Haverhill Ex-Servicemen's Club. We have been trying for years to have the road at the top end of Quakers Lane, which leads to the club, upgraded to what would be acceptable in a civilised society.

This road is in such poor state of repair that even people on foot find it difficult to use.

Drive your car on it at your peril! Several of our elderly members have fallen and hurt themselves. Still, who cares?

On a dray delivery last year after the snow the 7.5 ton truck that delivers to us reversed back down Quakers Lane out of control because it was unable to negotiate the roller coaster it would have encountered going forward.

Can anyone imagine what that driver would have felt like if he had killed someone?

Can anyone imagine a road in the centre of Bury St Edmunds being left with no maintenance at all for years on end? Thought not.

I have heard all the excuses for this abdication of responsibility from the council and have become immune to their incompetence. Well, I thought I had.

Recently I contacted them to request that I should be allowed to put up a directional sign indicating the whereabouts of the club, because although we are central to the town centre, it can still be a difficult place to find, especially for bands performing here for the first time.

Guess what... declined. Unbelievable!

So when you see the High Street in terminal decline you know who to blame because if you are running a business in Haverhill you will succeed in spite of the council, not because of it.

I may change banks

I WENT into Barclays Bank the other day and all the tills were closed and all there were were cash machines.

I will not use them as I don't trust them.

I went into my branch at Haverhill and the cashier told me by the end of the year this branch will only have one till open and there would be a long wait.

I have no intention of using the cash machine at my age – I am 81. It is alright for younger people but at my age I am not technically minded.

The customer should have been asked first not just gone ahead.

I am seriously thinking of changing my bank.

Love a doughnut?

THE ever popular National Doughnut Week is fast approaching and I would like to make a special appeal to independent craft bakers and coffee shops across the UK to sign-up for this fun, annual charity event, which takes place from 10th-17th May, in aid of The Children's Trust.

This year, The Children's Trust celebrates its 30th anniversary so please help to make National Doughnut Week - now in its 23rd year - the most successful ever. In 2013, £26,500 was raised through doughnut sales from participating businesses so we would really like to beat this figure.

The general public can also help us to achieve this, by buying family, friends and work colleagues a delicious doughnut treat from bakers and coffee shops displaying National Doughnut Week posters. So, whoever and wherever you are, please get involved in this great event and help make a difference to some very special children.

U3A

Annual General Meeting

After adoption of the 2013 AGM minutes, Ian O'Neill's report from the chair began with the recent loss of one of our most dedicated members, Hugh Morgan whose presence will be sadly missed by many members of U3A.

Thanks were extended to outgoing committee members for their three years of hard work and dedication for the benefit of all, and appreciation of the willingness of those standing for election to the new committee.

Membership has increased to just over 400 and one task for the new committee will be to consider CCTV relayed from the main hall of the Arts Centre to another room. 45 special interest groups are now running in addition to the monthly general meetings.

The AGM was followed by a brief talk by Jane Ballard of our local Citizens Advice Bureau giving us a brief video history of CAB since the early days of WW2 and reminding us that free help and legal advice is available from her team.

Arrangements for our 20 year anniversary activities are well under way and we are looking forward to meeting Horry Parsons for his interesting and amusing recollections "Building the Millennium Tower at St Edmundsbury Cathedral" On Tuesday 29 April starting at 10.30am.

Patting Miss Daisy

HAPPINESS: Pat Sheffield with Daisy

Pictures by Keith Jones

haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

AFTER 15 months of intensive training, it was decided that Daisy didn't have what it takes to become a guide dog.

Instead, she spends her days bringing joy to schoolchildren, elderly residents – and her loving parents.

Daisy, an 8-year-old Labrador, lives with Pat and Keith Sheffield at their home in Clare.

But some days of the week she can be found at Churchill School, Haverhill, Churchill Close, in Clare, or Abbeyfield, also in Clare, working as a PAT (Pets As Therapy) dog.

The animals visit hospitals, care homes and schools to provide therapy to people who cannot keep a dog themselves.

Pat, 65, said: "We soon realised she was very intelligent and when I was coming up to retirement I was thinking about applying for Daisy to be a PAT dog.

"I thought all of the training that she's had would be useful, and she loves people so much that she could give them some happiness."

Pat, who previously worked at Broomfield Hospital in Chelmsford, said she and Daisy have made "lovely friends" on their visits and that her dog has a gentle manner with adults and children alike.

Most recently, Pat and Daisy have started visiting Churchill School, on the Samuel Ward Academy site, which caters for children aged between 8 and 18, who have language and communication dif-

DEBRA FOX meets a very special pooch who is providing therapy as a PAT dog ficulities, autism, Asperger's syndrome or other difficulties.

These visits form part of Pets As Therapy's Read2Dogs programme, to help with children's confidence in the classroom.

"I do believe it does help with their confidence," said Pat.

"You can definitely see that they have gained confidence through the dog being there. I feel like she's doing something that the guide dogs would approve of, and that all the money put into her training has not been wasted."

Pat and Daisy visit once a week, and attend the care home and sheltered housing in Clare once a fortnight.

Pat and Keith, 68, previously took on another dog, Waldo, who did not get taken on as a guide dog.

He was a black Retriever/Collie cross. For more information about PAT dogs

Traffic plan still in progress

A TRAFFIC order designed to make part of Haverhill town centre one-way may not go ahead.

A consultation period took part earlier this year to ask residents and businesses what they thought about the proposals to make part of Camps Road one-way.

More than 400 responses were collected and they are still being analysed.

CLLR Graham Newman, cabinet member for roads and transport, said: "Alongside this work, local county councillors are concerned that the experimental order is not well supported by local people and are therefore investigating alternative solutions to the problem of excessive parking in the High Street during the desired 10am to 4pm traffic-free period."

Businesswomen are from Venus . . .

A WOMEN only networking group has celebrated a successful first meeting.

The Venus Business Circle was created by local business woman Elaine Carr, and the lunchtime meetings allow women in business to meet.

During the sessions, attendees will learn about a particular aspect of marketing.

More than 20 women attended the first meeting on personal branding, delivered by Loraine Callow.

Elaine, who set up her own marketing consultancy business in 2002 and has been running the bestof Haverhill since 2010, said: "Our speaker explained the importance of understanding your body shape and what styles suit different shapes."

"She gave advice on wardrobe essentials and how to create multiple outfits by using accessories. It was a very interactive session and whilst it was fun there was some valuable learning.

"How we dress affects how other people perceive us, how we feel about ourselves and our confidence levels."

The next meeting is on June 6 at Haverhill Golf Club between 12pm and 2pm.

To book a place contact Elaine on 01440 710158 or email haverhill@thebestof.co.uk.

One haircut for little princesses

DEBRA FOX

A CARING schoolgirl grew her hair to help lots of little princes and princesses.

Tilly Broomfield, 9, surprised everyone a year ago when she announced her wish to have her hair cut in the name of charity.

After 12 months of growing it, Tilly had the chop on April 12 and posted her ponytail – which was about 8 in in length – to The Little Princess Trust.

The charity uses donated hair to make wigs for young children suffering hair loss through cancer treatment.

Mum Sarah, of Kingfisher Close, Haverhill, said: "I was training for the Moon Walk, and Tilly was trying to think of what she could do – she was trying to find a way to do something for a charity. I was really surprised but very pleased that she had decided to do something like this."

NEW LOOK: Tilly

Tilly, a pupil at Westfield Primary Academy, previously took part in the Race for Life with her mum, and has always been keen to help out as many good causes as she can.

So far, she has had sponsorship from family, friends and classmates to raise £315. Her target is £350.

Sarah said: "I don't think Tilly knows how special it is to go and donate this hair, everyone has been behind her all the way through."

Churches celebrate Easter

CHRISTIANS from churches in Haverhill and beyond gathered together to remember the events of Good Friday.

The members, who also came from Kedington and Steeple Bumpstead, attended a service at West End Congregational Church before walking down to the market square to take part in a traditional Good Friday parade.

Afterwards, the parishioners enjoyed hot drinks and hot cross buns in St Mary's Church.

Rev Nigel Bishop said: "It was great to see so many people of all ages getting together to remember what Easter is really about."

John offers a range of flooring

Reporter Debra Fox talks to John Paton about his 12 years on Haverhill market

What's the name of your stall?

John Paton Traders.

What do you sell?

A large selection of rugs and mats for the bathroom, kitchen and living room. Many can not be found in the shops and the stock changes regularly.

How long have you been trading?

Seventeen years in total and 12 years on Haverhill market.

How did you start as a market stallholder?

Completely by accident. I was looking for a new business venture and decided to go into partnership with someone. This all fell through and I was left with the business so I literally fell into it.

What's your favourite thing about being on the market?

It's such a friendly place where everyone gets on well together and the loyalty of my customers. Ninety per cent of customers return so I often see them when they are moving house or decorating and feel like I know them well.

I can offer lots of advice regarding sizes and materials and offer a full exchange policy if a rug doesn't fit or match.

What's the hardest thing about being on the market?

It is getting the right stock and keeping up with changing trends

RUNNING MAD

Non-runner Debra Fox gets off the sofa & in training for Haverhill's inaugural 10K

I'M ASHAMED to say it – but I've fallen off the wagon.

But really, it isn't my fault.

I've missed out on an entire week of running after being struck down with a cold. Despite the sunny weather, a dry, snotty nose, a scratchy throat and squinty eyes are not ideal ailments to try and run through.

This was the set back I really did not need – a week ago, I spoke about perhaps setting myself a reasonable time after a successful run around Bottisham, but now, I'll take any time at all. I did keep up with some of my core-strengthening exercises, though (thanks Real Bodies!) and got back out onto the pavement at the weekend.

It was a slow start, but I actually realised (whisper this next bit) that I'd missed going for my runs.

There's not really much pleasure in just blobbing out on the sofa after work and not doing much for the rest of the night – which I've had a week of, while waiting for my cold to clear off.

I appreciate the rest of my evening much more if I've nipped out for a jog. It means I can come back, having worked hard (or worked, at least) and enjoy my after-dinner biscuit that little bit more.

So perhaps this cold was just the ticket for making me realise the good running does you (if only I hadn't lost the time).

To the person who sneezed and infected me: I'm holding you personally responsible if I don't finish this race.

Trust me, I will find you.

Natalie Imbruglia

Things We Do For Love, Cambridge Arts Theatre, Monday, May 5 – Saturday, May 10 at 7.45pm. Tickets £15-£35 from (01223) 503333 / cambridgeartstheatre.purchase-tickets-online.co.uk.

NATALIE Imbruglia is a pop star, film star and TV actress, writes James Rampton.

Apparently that wasn't enough, now she's showing the world she has yet another string to her bow, making her British stage debut in Alan Ayckbourn's Things We Do For Love. And she couldn't be more excited about it.

After a long day of rehearsals, the arduousness of her day does not show. A woman who is even more beautiful in person than in photographs, Imbruglia looks fresh and flawless – it's no surprise she was ranked number six in a 2004 poll of the 100 most naturally beautiful women ever. Wispy hair frames gorgeous features, which burst into life when she starts to discuss how thrilled she is to be starring opposite Claire Price, Edward Bennett and Simon Gregor in Things We Do For Love. "I have to keep pinching myself," Natalie exclaims. "How did I end up here? I can't tell you how excited I am about it!"

She plays Nikki, a trusting, slightly naive, but unrelentingly positive woman who moves in with her fiancé Hamish in the flat above her old school friend Barbara. Hamish and Barbara are polar opposites and don't hit it off. But their relationship then develops rather unexpectedly...

The 39-year-old Australian, who first made her name in Neighbours, landed the role in a decidedly unconventional manner. "I was in LA, so it had to do the audition by Skype – very modern! When Laurence [Boswell, the director] offered me the role, I was like, 'Really? How amazing! You actually want me to do it – I wasn't expecting that!'"

This is all new to Natalie. All the same, the performer, who had a global hit single with Torn, has been relishing the rehearsal process. "I'm definitely the rookie in this company. I'm sure the other actors were wondering how it was going to be to have a singer join them."

"I'm sure they had certain preconceived ideas about how I could be. So it's really nice that we are getting on so well. They can see that I'm a team player."

"They're all brilliant – they're such professionals. It's great to work with very experienced actors who really know what they're doing. In the rehearsal room, I'm like a sponge."

A new flavour

MUSIC lovers visiting Haverhill Arts Centre next week to catch Boo Hewerdine live will be treated to a slot by a unique performer.

Icelandic singer and songwriter Hafdis Huld, pictured above, will take to the stage as supporting act and entertain the audience with her eclectic repertoire centered around acoustic guitar and piano.

The musician joined electro band Gus Gus at the age of 15, and since then has dedicated her life to performing.

Latest single Queen Bee was released last month, and third album home is due for release on May 5.

Hafdis' other achievements include recording the theme track for The Borrowers, released in 2011, and having her music featured in several TV campaigns across Europe.

■ Catch Hafdis Huld at Haverhill Arts Centre on May 1, supporting Boo Hewerdine. Tickets cost £12.50. Visit haverhillartscentre.co.uk or call 01440 714 140.

■ Calling all would-be Sherlock's out there, retired murder squad detective Trevor Marriott brings THE WORLD'S WORST SERIAL KILLERS to Haverhill today at 7.30pm. Author of the best-selling book The Evil Within – The World's Worst Serial Killers, Trevor focuses on the crimes of 20 appalling killers, describing the suffering the victims endured and the backgrounds of the killers themselves. Not for the faint hearted, many of the photographs shown are of a very graphic nature with no one under 16 admitted without a parent or appropriate adult.

■ Voted Britain's Favourite Male Medium by the prestigious Soul & Spirit Magazine, DEREK ACORAH returns to Haverhill on Saturday (26 April) at 8pm with The Enlightenment Tour.

■ The HAVERHILL SILVER BAND perform in an evening of light music, showcasing their Bandful of Talent through solos, duets and features, accompanied by the brass band on Sunday 27 April at 7.30pm.

■ For over two decades BOO HEWERDINE who will be with us on Thursday 1 May at 8pm, has been a much-loved performer (best well known for being the front man of The Bible) but it is as a songwriter that his peers hold him in particular esteem; over 400 of his songs have been recorded.

Boo will also sing new songs with support from Hafdis Huld, Icelandic singer and former singer for electronic band GusGus.

■ Father and daughter, MARTIN AND ELIZA CARTHY come together for a duo performance at the Arts Centre on Friday 2 May at 8pm. For more than 40 years Martin has been one of folk music's greatest innovators, one of its best loved, most enthusiastic and at times, most quietly controversial of figures. Martin recently received a Lifetime Achievement Award at the BBC Radio 2 Folk Awards 2014.

Eliza is undoubtedly one of the most impressive and engaging performers of her generation.

■ On the cinema front we have a second showing of THE BOOK THIEF (12A), an adaptation of Markus Zusak's much loved 2006 inspiring tale of courage and strength, on Monday 28 April at 1.30pm. Reel Culture BLUE IS THE WARMEST COLOUR (18) showing on Monday evening at 7.30pm, is adapted from Julie Maroh's graphic novel. French with English subtitles.

Finally, starring Kristin Scott Thomas, Ralph Fiennes and Felicity Jones, THE INVISIBLE WOMAN (12A) showing on Tuesday 29 and Wednesday 30 April at 7.30pm, is based on the award-winning book by Claire Tomalin, the story of the rocky relationship between Charles Dickens and Nelly Ternan, a woman all but erased from history.

The Amazing Spider-Man 2 (12A)

THE Amazing Spider-Man 2 opens with a protracted flashback to the night Richard Parker (Campbell Scott) and his wife Mary (Embeth Davidtz) leave their young son in the care of Aunt May (Sally Field) and Uncle Ben (Martin Sheen). The reason for this sudden disappearance continues to haunt Peter (Garfield). So too does the ghost of Captain Stacy (Denis Leary), whose daughter Gwen (Stone) is Peter's on-off-on-off girlfriend. While Peter hones his powers, childhood friend Harry Osborn (Dane DeHaan) returns to the Big Apple to assume control of Oscorp in the wake of the death of his bullying father, Norman (Chris Cooper). Harry's ascension coincides with an industrial accident that transforms nerdy employee and Spider-Man fanatic, Max Dillon (Jamie Foxx), into an electrically-charged monster. Thus Peter must potentially give up his life to protect Gwen and Aunt May from harm.

The Love Punch (12A)

RICHARD Jones (Brosnan) and his ex-wife Kate (Thompson) are crippled by loneliness as they lead unfulfilling separate lives. He is poised to retire to the golf course with best friend Jerry (Timothy Spall) while she reluctantly agrees to blind dates organised by Jerry's well-meaning wife, Penelope (Celia Imrie). "Taking your laptop into the garden is not 'getting out there'," Penelope reminds Kate. Shortly after the couple's daughter Sophie (Tuppence Middleton) flies the nest for university, Machiavellian French businessman Vincent Kruger (Laurent Lafitte) plunders the pension fund of Richard's company, leaving the Joneses on the brink of financial ruin. A trip to Paris to confront Kruger ends badly so Kate suggests they steal the hulking diamond necklace, which Kruger's unsuspecting fiancée (Louise Bourgoin) is set to wear on their wedding day.

Divergent (12A)

FUTURISTIC Chicago is divided into five factions – Abnegation, Amity, Candor, Dauntless and Erudite – which exemplify positive aspects of the human personality: selflessness, cordiality, honesty, intelligence and courage. On a specific day each year, 16-year-olds undergo an aptitude test that reveals their destiny. Beatrice Prior (Shailene Woodley) is poised to take that test. She lives in Abnegation with her brother Caleb (Ansel Elgort) and parents Andrew (Tony Goldwyn) and Natalie (Ashley Judd) but questions where her future lies. The results of Beatrice's test are inconclusive and Tori (Maggie Q), who administers the procedure behind closed doors, tells the 16-year-old that she is a Divergent. Beatrice must hide her status because Divergents threaten the finely-balanced system and are being hunted by Jeanine Matthews (Kate Winslet), strident leader of Erudite. When the time comes to choose her destiny, Beatrice opts for Dauntless and begins rigorous training under hunky instructor Four (Theo James). Fellow newcomer Peter (Miles Teller) takes an immediate dislike to Beatrice and attempts to bully her out of Dauntless. However, she is resilient and draws encouragement from three new friends, Christina (Zoe Kravitz), Al (Christian Madsen) and Will (Ben Lloyd-Hughes).

There's a Fox in the garden

At the end of a hard day's filming, Silent Witness star Emilia Fox likes nothing better than to venture into her oasis of calm, with its walls of lavender, pretty clematis and fragrant roses.

The south-facing garden, which complements her elegant Victorian home in west London, was lovingly created with the help of her garden designer pal, Sue Gernaey. Emilia says that if she could change her own career, she would become a gardener.

"I'm constantly begging if I can come and work for her (Sue), so I can give everything up and become a gardener," says Emilia, the daughter of actors Joanna David and Edward Fox.

The garden has been a labour of love for the 39-year-old actress, who is the face of B&Q's new campaign to replace all polystyrene packaging in its range of bedding plants and use non-peat compost.

"When I first moved in, the garden was full of rocks and stones and lots of odd protruding wood, but it had a lovely, huge bay tree and I'd always dreamed of having my own proper English country cottage garden. I've always found cottage gardens very romantic and I'm probably a bit of an old romantic.

"So, we took the whole thing out and started from scratch. It's the most rewarding thing I've ever done.

"I'm a trial-and-error gardener so I always knew that the best thing to do would be to put in the things that would come up each year. Sue laughed at me because when it came to bulb planting time she asked how many I wanted to order and I just said, 'cram it full, and they're all coming up now – all the tulips. It's like a floral revolution out there. There are pinks, whites, and almost black tulips.'

These include T. 'Mondial', 'Angelique', 'Queen of Night', 'Spring Green', 'Burgundy' and 'Albion Star'. She also has plenty of muscari and Allium 'Purple Sensation'.

"I also wanted there to be a lot of roses because when I moved in I was having my little girl, who is called Rose. So, where you sit outside to eat, there are a lot of roses. There's also a wall of lavender by the table, leading on to a traditional lawn which is curved at the top and then surrounded by beds of roses, clematis and herbs, passion flowers and myrtle, all the things that make it smell delicious in summer.

"My favourite plant is the Natasha Richardson rose, a beautiful light pink rose with an old-fashioned scent. My sister got it for me in memory of Natasha [who died in a skiing accident in 2009] and it's just outside the back door underneath the lavender wall."

Emilia also wanted to try and replicate some of the sensory elements of gardens she'd experienced when living in the US.

"When I lived in Los Angeles, everywhere you went there were delicious smells at night. I knew I couldn't recreate the same thing but I wanted a similar feeling of every sense being stimulated when you go out into the garden."

This clear passion for gardening comes from her mother, she explains.

"My mum has incredibly green fingers. My childhood memories are of hyacinths and paperwhites up the stairs, while the table was always full of wild flowers and sweet peas. Now, I buy a ridiculous amount of flowers and put them outside as well, so what you look out to at the moment is lots of beautiful burgundy ranunculus and tulips and tuberosas in those old-fashioned enamel jugs.

"I've always felt that wherever you go, if you've got flowers it will feel like home."

Despite a busy acting career, Emilia tries to spend as much "therapeutic" time in the garden as she can.

"It's probably one of the most rewarding things, because you get to see the results."

She is supporting the B&Q Teabag Technology in those old-fashioned enamel jugs.

"It's key that we care about the environment as much as we care about how beautiful our gardens are," she urges.

Two Counties on June 29

THE hugely popular Two Counties Motor Show is set to return to the Rowley Mile Race Course at Newmarket on June 29 for its 14th year.

Described as the premier regional motor show, the organisers, the Cambridge and Newmarket Lions Clubs, say it guarantees a fantastic day out for the whole family.

Dealers who have exhibited at the show previously include Aston Martin, Audi, Bentley, Ford, Lexus, Honda, Skoda, and many more and 2014 promises a superb range. An impressive variety of classic cars will be in attendance as always and it will boast a huge range of trade stands.

Family entertainment is always a priority, and in the past has included bouncy castle, go-karting, facepainting and other entertainments. Of course there will also be hot and cold refreshments.

Over the last few years the Two Counties Motor Show has raised over £110,000 for local charities and this year the organisers hope to significantly add to that tally. This year chosen charities include Street Sports, an organisation which raises funds to involve young people in sport and reduce crime and antisocial behaviour.

Last year more than £3,000 was donated to Suffolk Carers, enabling several much-needed trips and activities for some of the region's young carers. The money raised goes a long way in the chosen causes and the organisers hope to beat last year's total.

With several hundred of the automotive industry's finest cars and bikes on display both new and old, the region's biggest offering of brand new cars for sale, a huge range of trade stands and refreshments, and family entertainment, the Two Counties Motor Show offers a fantastic day out for everyone. Dealerships spaces are being booked up fast so if you are interested in attending, get in touch with the organisers through two-countiesmotorshow.co.uk – quickly!

CLEVER: The Seat Ibiza FR Edition

1.4 FR Edition for Ibiza

SPANISH car maker Seat has injected some added sparkle into its Ibiza compact hatch, with the announcement of a new FR Edition variant.

Borrowing a 1.4-litre petrol engine from Volkswagen, this new model boasts clever cylinder cut-off technology to save fuel and reduce emissions. During periods of low demand, the engine switches from four to two cylinders – technology that's now appearing on Volkswagen, Audi and even Bentley models.

Replacing the previous 150bhp FR, the new 140bhp model remains a brisk performer as it'll sprint to 62mp in 7.8 seconds. It'll also save you money thanks to its 60.1mpg and 109g/km economy rating.

On sale now in both three and five-door guise, prices start at £15,320.

Promotion still on for Borough

HAVERHILL Borough kept up the pressure on their promotion rivals by beating Team Bury 2-0 at home in the First Division on Easter Monday.

After a goalless first half, Luke Strutton broke the deadlock midway through the second period as he slotted underneath the goalkeeper from the edge of the box following Ryan Weaver's cushioned through ball.

And Weaver then doubled the lead inside the penalty area, although he needed a second bite of the cherry after initially swinging and missing.

Borough were never under too much pressure and their cause was helped when Bury had a man sent off.

There was a double for Newmarket's Jack Higgs as Haverhill Rovers were condemned to a 4-1 defeat in the Premier Division.

His first effort was cancelled out by a Matty Bonner own goal, but another Higgs effort and goals from Bonner and Ross Paterson, all of which came in a 15-minute period, secured all three points for the Jockeys.

There was better news for Rovers last Saturday when Luke Parkinson and Dan Cornwell struck in their 2-0 home win over Woodbridge.

And goals from Aaron Forshaw and Gavin Taylor also earned Borough a 2-0 win at Braintree reserves that afternoon.

Lyndon Brown was the overall winner of the April IFF Challenge with 43 points, a score that saw him take Division One. Aaron Tokley was second on countback from Kim Ward after both scored 37.

In Division Two, Ellis Woko was first with 39, two clear of Martin Mansfield. Anthony Choat was third with 36. Graham Hepworth was top in Division Three with 35 as Richard Peck beat Barry Shuter to second after both finished with 32.

Jackie Condon continued her good recent form by winning the ladies' midweek stableford.

She scored 35 points, to cut her handicap by a shot to 13, to win by two. Siobhan Harrison was second with 33 and Leah Letcher was third on countback with 32.
